Alissa Redmond
Rowan County Commissioner

BIOGRAPHY/ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Bio:
Alissa Redmond is a Rowan County resident, small-business owner, and owner of South Main Book Company in Salisbury. She previously served as a U.S. diplomat and worked in public policy and community development. She holds a master's degree in Public Policy from Duke University and is a parent raising her two daughters in Rowan County.

Why she's running:
Alissa is running to help Rowan County grow while investing in its communities. She wants to support small businesses, strengthen schools, address the housing crisis, and encourage economic development that works with existing neighborhoods rather than against them.

Economic Development:	• Bring new industries to Rowan County while supporting local small businesses and avoiding AI/data-center-focused growth.
Education:	• Invest in Rowan-Salisbury Schools and attract and retain great teachers and staff.
Veterans:	• Expand support for veterans, including mental health care, addiction recovery, and homelessness assistance.
Housing & Community:	• Address the housing shortage while supporting young families, arts and culture, and existing neighborhoods.
Literacy:	• Strengthen literacy and access to opportunities that help residents learn and thrive.
