BIOGRAPHY/ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Bio:
LaHoma Smith Romocki is a seventh-generation Granville County resident whose family has lived in the Wilton area since 1805. She brings more than 35 years of public service and professional experience, including work as a Peace Corps volunteer and Country Director, public health professional, White House Senior Policy Analyst, educator, professor, and department chair. She has also served her local community through the Vance-Granville Health Board, Girl Scouts, and her church.

Why she's running:
LaHoma is running because she believes Granville County's long-standing problems need action, not more waiting. She wants to address concerns around water, schools, equity, and access to local government, while making sure District 6 residents have a strong voice. For her, this is personal—she is fighting for the community her family has called home for more than 200 years.

|---|---|
| Strengthen Public School: | • Invest in teachers, improve schools, and create a school system that attracts and keeps families in Granville County. |
| Accountable Transparent Government: | • Treat residents with respect, make public records accessible, and clearly explain and defend county decisions. |
| Improve Healthcare Access: | • Expand access to healthcare for residents who face transportation, mobility, or scheduling barriers. |
| Invest In District 6: | • Make sure District 6 gets a fair return on its tax dollars through jobs, businesses, parks, recreation, and community amenities. |
| Protect Water Quality: | • Push for independent water testing, transparency, and accountability from SGWASA and other agencies, while monitoring the impact of growth on the water supply. |
| Build a Prosperous, Affordable Community: | • Support economic development while making sure Granville County remains a place where families can afford to live and put down roots. |
