DOWN HOME NORTH CAROLINA

Sean Ewing
Alamance Board of Commissions

BIOGRAPHY/ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Bio:
Sean is a U.S. Air Force veteran, engineer, and public servant committed to strengthening Alamance County through practical, results-driven leadership. After serving on active duty in the Air Force and Air National Guard, he earned a degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering and later served on the Mebane City Council. Since his election in 2019, Sean has supported downtown revitalization, attracted new businesses and jobs, and promoted economic growth while bringing a common-sense, bipartisan approach to local government.

Why he's running:
Sean is running for Alamance County Commissioner to build on his record of delivering results for the community. He wants to continue creating jobs, supporting local businesses, making smart investments in the county's future, and ensuring county government remains responsive, fiscally responsible, and focused on improving the quality of life for every resident.

Smart Growth:	• Will fight for responsible growth that protects our communities, invests in infrastructure, and ensures new development benefits residents, not just developers.
Economy:	• Will support small businesses, attract good-paying jobs, and promote smart economic growth that creates opportunity while keeping taxes low for Alamance County families.
Safety:	• Will support our first responders, invest in programs that strengthen families and neighborhoods, and ensure public safety remains a top priority for Alamance County.